*Duke Kahanamoku made this mark in the swimming meet on June 11, 1914, which is not acknowledged as a record by the A. A. U. Ludy Langer has a mark of 5:22 1-5, five turns, made in Suto baths in San Francisco. B. Kiernan made 5:19 in a bath at Sydney in 1905. Kiernan also made a mark of 11:11 3-5 in the 880-yard swim with 17 turns at Rushcutters Bay, Sydney, March 18, 1905.

World's champions will be the big feature of the swimming meet which will be held at the naval ship tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. This meeting will be the big athletic event of the Carnival, and the result of the races will be flashed around the world to the public who are waiting for a new champion.

Duke Kahanamoku, world's champion in the sprints, will meet Ludy Langer, title holder in the long distance events. The result of the meet between the two world beaters may mean a new record in aquatics. These stars will meet in the 220, 440 and 880-yard swims. Opinion seems to be divided as to which one of the stars will cross the line first in the distance events.

Duke has been traveling the short distance events to victory but he has never met a champion in the longer distances, and the swimming enthusiasts and the many friends of the local champion will watch his work against a great star. Predictions that Duke will win out in the 440-yard event have been made, and the sentiment appears to be about equally divided in this event. Langer appears to be the favorite in the half-mile swim.

The two champions are great friends and have been together most of the time since the arrival of the mainland in Honolulu. Each swimmer declares that they will do their best, but should Langer win Duke will be the first to shake his hand, and Langer will be the first to congratulate the local star should the latter finish ahead. In southern California the two natators were great friends, and the public will be assured that two thorough sportsmen will oppose each other in the coming meet.

Feminine Stars.
Next to the tilt between the world champions, the race between Miss Frances Cowells and the local feminine swimmers will attract the most attention. Miss Lucile Legros is picked by many to win from the mainland swimmer, and the Lane girls have many friends who pick them to lead at the finish. Miss Legros has made fast time in practice, and it would not be surprising to see the

WINGED O BOYS STOP ST. LOUIS STARS SATURDAY

Schammel Twirls Good Ball and Holds Locals to a Single Run

Although the St. Louis line-up was crowded with stars in Saturday's game against the Olympics, the locals failed to win, and their present record against the visitors is two lost without a victory chalked up. The St. Louis players were figured to win but Mr. Schammel of the Olympic team decided that he would stop them, and he did.

Schammel was very much in evidence Saturday afternoon. In other games he has not shown one-half what he did against the Saints, but he stopped them on Saturday, and the local hopes did not secure more than one hit in any inning. Schammel looked mighty good against the St. Louis aggregation, and pitched his best game since his arrival in Honolulu.

Ayau Homes Again.
Ayau, who had already secured two homers off Schammel's delivery, decided that he would make it three, and hit a hard smash in the eighth inning that cleared the wall by a good margin. This was the only run that the locals secured during the afternoon. C. Moriama secured a single and double in four times up, and Foster, Robinson and Soares were the only others to solve Schammel's delivery. Moriama reached first in the opening inning when he secured a single, but was caught off first a moment later. Andrade also singled, but the Olympics failed to score. The St. Louis team secured a hit in the second and another in the third, but neither counted. The Olympics also failed to chase a run across until the fourth inning.

Olympics Score.
Kennedy started the fireworks in the fourth stanza when he secured a single off Janssen. Then Charley Friene sacrificed, and after Benn had hit to Swan, the third baseman threw the ball away, and Kennedy romped home with the first score. The Olympics failed to get a bingle in the next inning.

Kennedy again started the doings in the sixth by a nice single, and Friene followed suit. Then Riordan laid down a sacrifice and everybody moved along. Then up came Papa Barker, who has been busting the pill ever since he learned that he had a bouncing boy. Barker looked at one of Janssen's shoots and sent it far out in the jungles, two runs coming in, and the game was on ice.

There was nothing further doing until Home Run Ayau stepped to the plate in the eighth canto. There were two out, and Vernon had two swings at the ball without striking anything but air. Then Schammel grooved one and Vernon swung, and the ball sailed far out of the scene of action, and the Home Run King raced around the bases with another four-ply swat to his credit.

Visitors Star.
The Olympics played good ball, and in the field the work of the visitors was up to standard. The Saints did not play up to their standard, as they have many star players on the squad. Something was lacking, and inasmuch as the St. Louis squad will not have another opportunity to test their strength against the visitors, only Ayau will have a chance when the Chinese play the Winged O boys. The crowd was large as large as when the Chinese met the San Francisco boys. The score:

Olympics . . . 0 0 0 1 0 2 0 0 — 3 9 0
St. Louis . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 — 1 5 2

Batteries—Janssen, T. Moriama and Soares; Schammel and Riordan. (six men, each man swimming 75 yards).

SHAFTER STARS WILL ENTER IN MILITARY MEET

2nd Infantry to Have Strong Relay Team for Marathon Run

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
PORT SHAFTER, Feb. 20.—Captain Paul B. Malone, 2nd Infantry, in charge of the training and selecting of teams for the Mid-Pacific Carnival, announced his team yesterday for the various military events. The teams are all well balanced throughout, and although there are no world beaters among them, yet there are many excellent athletes and great things are expected from them.

The selection of the teams has been made after many tryouts, and of the 250 who turned out for places, all have been eliminated except those named below.

Lieut. Carl Cohen has had the training of the marathon squad, and probably this team has worked harder than any. This marathon relay race from Schofield Barracks to Honolulu particularly appeals to most of the men and there was much rivalry for places on the team. The team is well balanced and composed of strong fast men and the indications are good they will give a good account of themselves. Training of all the men continued until after 4 o'clock on Friday. In some cases it will be impossible to give the definite men who will make the team, as in many cases the substitutes are about as good as some on the first team, but as near as can be named today the following men compose the teams with their substitutes:

1/4 Mile Run Team—Long, Sprock, Morran, Manson.

100 Yard Dash Team—Rich, Bennett, Van Pelt, Jones, Van Dyk, Thomas.

220 Yard Dash Team—Bennett, Van Pelt, Rich, Van Dyk, Rau, Lefstetter.

1 Mile Relay—Bennett, Rich, Long, Van Pelt, Van Dyk, Rau, Lefstetter, Mackay, Reynolds, Hosen, Price.

Marathon Team—Baker, Benn, Stover, McArthur, Meyers, O. E. Rite, Alsen, Ntrangelo. Substitutes: Devoe, Halloun.

Wall Scaling Team—Bias-Ralls, Myer-Peebles, Gower-Roberts, O'Mohundro-Jones, E. L. Badner-Looney, Jones, E. C. Shirley. Sgt. Whitaker, team captain.

Tug of War Team—Bergin, Captain G. Co.; Benkle, M. Co.; Brunswick, K. Co.; Duncan, D. Co.; Fogart, E. Co.; Dunher, M. Co.; Schuch, D. Co.; Doris, Machine Gun Co.; Henderson, G. Co.; Rhodes (Anchor) G. Co. Substitutes: Ferguson, K. Co.; Shadley, K. Co.; Springen, H. Co.

1ST INFANTRY IS IN GREAT SHAPE FOR BIG CONTEST

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

PORT SHAFTER, Feb. 21.—The athletic team from the 1st Infantry which is going to represent the regiment in the Carnival military athletic meet at Alexander Field went into camp at Port Shafter yesterday. Every member of the team is in the pink of condition and the officers in charge of them are keeping them in form by light exercises and tryouts. Last year the 1st Infantry won out over the favorites, the 25th, by the narrow margin of one-half point. This year every effort will be made again to come off victorious and by a larger score. The 25th sprinters have a little edge on the 1st last men but both Cpl. Bray and Smith of the 1st are in excellent condition and are running a little better than they did last year. One new event which should prove a most interesting one is the wall scaling event.

The team coached by Sgt. Ballard are going over the wall in perfect form, and those who have seen them work cannot conceive of it being possible to scale the wall in less time than the 1st Infantry team is doing it.

The Crimson in two games and Cornell failed to win one.

The Ohio State League baseball circuit may be increased this year to eight cities. Last year the league made money with six clubs.

The Princeton Club of New York defeated the Bridgeport University Club on the Princeton courts in a squash tennis match, 4 matches to 1.

The bronze intra-mural sporting trophy donated by A. P. Nelson, president of the board of regents, has been formally presented to the University of Wisconsin.

University of Michigan now possesses the strong man of the colleges in the person of R. W. Johnson 13. He recently made 3033 in a strength test, which betters the mark made by W. F. Roos of Yale.

MILLS SCHOOL TEAM FIRST IN CROSS COUNTRY

Wins Long Run By Low Score; Woolsey of Kam First at Finish

Mills School demonstrated the value of consistent training on Saturday afternoon when they won the annual Cornell cross country run on the Punahou campus. Mills School was an easy winner with the low score of 23 points, and 19 of the runners finished better than 224 in the event. Kamehameha had a well-rounded team, coming in second with 45 points.

To G. Woolsey of Kamehameha goes the honor of crossing the line first. Woolsey ran a steady race throughout, and by a burst of speed in the last 220 yards, won out. Stanley Carey, who had been figured upon to win the event, dropped out on the second time around the course, when he was leading the field by 30 yards. The squad was well bunched the first time around the course, and Woolsey, Stickney, Chun Lee Puck and Carey were running strong.

Carey Drops Out.
Carey was the first runner to come in sight on the last turn before the runners came on to the track, but dropped out, and Woolsey took first position, followed by Stickney. Three Mills runners were next with Eaton leading Jack Lee of McKinley. The next three runners were Mills men, and they were running a steady race.

Stickney kept his position and was the first runner to make the track for the last 400 yards. Woolsey followed behind and caught the high school runner on the back stretch and raced home an easy winner. Chun Lee Puck and Amos caught Stickney 20 yards from the finish and both runners finished ahead of the high school runner. Lee finished strong and passed Eaton and Teragawa in the last lap. V. Uweloia ran a good race in the last half-mile and passed several runners, finishing tenth.

Mills Springs Surprise.
Mills School deserves credit for the great showing made by their team, as they furnished a number of runners who had the qualities for a long run. Several of the runners showed a burst of speed, and Mills should have some worthy representatives in the mile run during the interscholastic meet. When the remark was made: "Watch out for Mills," several of the on lookers laughed, but when the men came around the second turn the Mills men convinced the doubting Thomases that they had an excellent chance for victory, and they proved it by finishing in first by a wide margin.

Some of the Kamehameha men had good spurts, especially Woolsey, but others did not appear to stand the grind. Sickness in the squad naturally slowed the runners up some, but it would have taken a grand team to defeat Mills in the long distance event.

The course was for the most part over the Punahou campus, and the runners passed the track twice, giving the many spectators an opportunity to follow the race. The run was handled in excellent shape, and no disqualifications marred the meeting of one of the best cross country events that has been staged in Honolulu.

How They Finished.
The following runners and the school they represented at the finish are as follows: G. Woolsey, K; Chun Lee Puck, M; Joseph Amos, M; Joe Stickney, McK; Jack Lee, McK; T. Teragawa, M; K. Kuraagawa, M; H. Sueoka, M; E. Eaton, K; V. Uweloia, K; Charles Wan, M; A. Taylor, K; H. Groves, K; J. Bettencourt, St. L.; O. Kalkaka, K; William Silva, M; A. Kanuha, K; P. Wright, K; Choy Doi, W. DE RUSSY TEAM CERTAIN TO BE FAST IN RELAY

When the 75-yard relay swim for enlisted men is run off at the naval dock tomorrow afternoon, it will be the team composed entirely of men from the 10th and 25th Companies, Coast Artillery Corps, at Fort De Russy, that reaches the finish line first, if past performances are indicative of the ability of the team.

SPEED MARTIN SAVES BATTLE FOR OLYMPICS

Star Pitcher Fans Sadtler and Wins Contest By Score of 2 to 1

"Speed" Martin was one of the star performers at the ball orchard yesterday afternoon, and Ed Nell was another personage who accumulated a collection of laurels during the ball game between the Punahou and Olympic club aggregations. Ed Nell hustled into the fray a moment before the speeder man took the calcium, an annexed what little fame there was being scattered around the playing field.

Henry Chillingworth singled off Howedge in the last of the ninth. Lang Akana forced Henry, and Henshaw came through with a bingle that sent Lang to the keystone station. Throughout the afternoon the Punahou aggregation had failed to secure a run off the southpaw slants of Mr. Howedge. Nell did quite like the situation, and being a man of deeds decided that he would make an attempt to start something. His idea was right. He slammed one of Howedge's shoots to Barkerville and Akana raced across the rubber for the one score of the day.

Martin Ends Contest.
Enter Mr. Peaches Speeder Martin. Charley Lyman had his war club ready and smashed a pretty hot one down to Benn, who threw out Henshaw at the plate. Lyman went to second. Bart Burke signalled to Martin and the speed merchant set himself for the battle with Sadtler. The star of the visitors had not been seen in action for some time and he decided to stop the next batter. Inasmuch as he had been sent to the rescue, "the next" inning Henshaw reached third strike of the day across the plate and Sadtler had retired, and the fifth straight game went to the visitors.

York, who did the heaving for the Punahou team, had the little lead over Howedge, and with proper support the locals might have romped home with a victory. The score was 2 to 1, which proves conclusively that the home boys were playing a good brand of ball. Doty and Henshaw were off color, and each contributed two slips to the disaster.

The Olympics scored in the first inning when Doty let a ground ball get away from him. The locals filled the bases in the sixth inning but Eddie Benn made a nice play on Lang Akana's liner and the left fielder of the locals was doubled at third. In the next inning Henshaw reached third with Doty on second, but the latter was caught, and Henshaw failed to score.

Olympics Score.
The Olympics scored in the eighth when Benn singled and stole second. He went to third on a passed ball, and then came home when Doty dropped a fly ball from Burke's bat. The next scoring came when Manager Ed Nell stepped to the plate with his war club and sent Lang home.

The game was exciting throughout, and the Punahou team had a number of chances to score. They played snappy ball, but the same may be said for the Olympics, who were on their toes throughout the struggle. Eddie Benn was a real star at third base, handling seven difficult chances without a slip. Friene also starred in the field with seven chances. Benn was the slugging star of the day, annexing three hits in four times up.

The score: R H E

Batteries—Howedge, Martin and Burke; York and Henshaw.

Reason Connie Mack has such devotion for Strunk and McInnis is that they never threatened him when the war was on. They were satisfied to play for what he offered them and Connie says they can still play for him as long as their little hearts desire.

Of that famous athletic aggregation which brought so much fame and inter around the name of C. Mack the only survivors are Strunk, McInnis and Thomas. Really, it doesn't take long to tear down a pennant winner when the boss tries.

With Ellis, Maggart, Wolter and Jackson battling left-handed, Frank Chance is nosing around for a right-handed batter or two.

soldier swimmer on the island, has gone over the course in practice sprints at almost record time, while Sgt. Heinze, Pts. Goetz, Kircheval, Johns, Panzer and Silversen (substitute) have helped to develop a team that will give its competitors a hard tussle, and in the event it loses to one of the service teams that aggregation will have to "go some."

Due to the post being situated on the beach at Waikiki, where conditions for practice could hardly be improved upon, it is thought that with the interest the men are showing in aquatics at present there are liable to be a few more A. A. U. records hung up by the enlisted personnel of Honolulu.

VETERAN WRIGHT IS FEATURE OF TENNIS DOUBLES

Finals Won By Griffin and Dawson in Four Great Sets

SECOND AND THIRD SHOW SOME REMARKABLE WORK

"The best tennis doubles ever played in Hawaii."
"Big league stuff."
"Newport and Long Island never saw any harder-fought matches."

Comments like these bubbled from 500 tennis enthusiasts last Saturday when Ward Dawson and Clarence J. Griffin, the fast-going mainlanders, fought their way to a triumph in the doubles matches of the Carnival tournament, defeating Beals C. Wright, former national champion, and Alan J. Lowrey in four splendid sets.

Wright and Lowrey, badly beaten in the first set, entirely outpaced, out-generated and outplaced, made a remarkable recovery in the second set, pulled it out by brilliance and court craft, kept up their work in the third set, but lost after a great fight, and then were unable to stem the tide in the fourth and last conflict.

The scores were 6-2, 6-8, 6-1, and these scores pretty accurately indicate the keenness of the struggle.

The feature of it all was Beals C. Wright, veteran of countless matches, hero of championships. The master of racket and net has been out of the game for two years and for several years previously had been below his great form. But on Saturday his coolness, generalship, ability to bring off some wonderful ground strokes, and a judgment of his opponents' shots that was nothing less than marvelous, made him the outstanding figure in the finest doubles that Honolulu has ever seen here.

The second and third sets produced rally after rally, stroke after stroke that brought the spectators to gales of applause and many of them to their feet.

In the first set the visiting pair started off as if they would make a runaway match of it. Lowrey, the least experienced of the four in tournament playing, was plainly nervous, many of his returns going into the net and his lob falls outside. Wright also had a few mishaps in returning, but both were serving well. In addition, their lack of opportunity previously for playing together showed in occasional lapses of teamwork.

Wright and Lowrey Take Brace.
Griffin and Dawson easily ran this set through, and the spectators expected them to take three straight. But in the second set Wright and Lowrey got into a remarkable stride.

Lowrey's drives were sent swiftly over the net and clipped the tape inside, or he smashed the ball where the mainlanders could not get it. Wright showed magnificent all-around work. Without the pace of the others, he was placing with good judgment and putting the "cut" on the ball that made accurate returns difficult. His service was a lesson to tennis men and he and Lowrey pulled together perfectly. Time and again he called balls "out" that Lowrey was just starting after, and invariably Wright's judgment was correct. Griffin and Dawson also speeded up their work, but the others were not to be denied and won out after the set had gone to deuce.

The third set was much like the second and the tennis was correspondingly good. Some of the rallies were extremely fine. Lowrey and Wright lost a point or two at critical moments and after the set had again gone to deuce and then two games beyond, Griffin and Dawson pulled out a victory. This victory proved the deciding point. Griffin and Dawson kept up their speed and ran the next set out in rapid fashion.

That Honolulu appreciates tennis and likes immensely the work of the visitors was shown by the impartial applause that came from the stands. When Lowrey and Wright were making their uphill fight, the sympathy of the spectators was with them, but the good shots of their opponents were never overlooked.

Connecticut Literary Institute has changed its name to "Suffield School."
